DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the amendment mailed May 18, 2004.

Claims 1-20 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103(a)

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raychaudhuri et al. (EP 0747895 A2) in view of Hurditch et al (U.S. 5,952,073) for reasons previously stated in the Office Action submitted on August 7, 2004.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments of rejection under 35 USC 103(a) as unpatentable over Raychaudhuri et al. (EP 0747895) in view of Hurditch et al. (U.S. 5,952,073) have been considered but are unpersuasive. Applicant notes the thickness of the optical recording layer and the reflecting layer of Raychaudhuri is selected not such that the thickness is greater than 70% of the thickness showing the minimum reflectance, but such that the minimum reflectance is made to show greater than 70% for a laser wavelength of about 780nm. Examiner maintains the thickness of the optical recording layer and reflecting layer being selected such that the  $R_{\min}$  reflectivity is about or greater than 70%, meaning the recording layer has a thickness of about or greater 70% corresponding to the first minimum reflectance of the recording medium. Applicant argues Raychaudhuri teaches an inventive concept which distinctly differs from the inventive concept of the present invention, which is directed the intended use of the claimed invention. Intended use is given little patentable weight. Furthermore, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Applicant argues Hurditch does not overcome the deficiencies of Raychaudhuri. Because Raychaudhuri has been maintained for reasons of record, Hurditch is also maintained.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
